Page 3, Q5. Recognizing that email blasts are how we inform members about the upcoming GIS In Action conference, we do want to manage the number of email blasts we send to our members. On a scale of 1 - 5, please rate the number of email blasts for the past conference.

1	There wasn't enough publicity for the conference this year.	May 28, 2013 4:20 PM
2	didnt get any emails, n/a	May 28, 2013 12:50 PM
3	I registered using a different email address than I used in the past. So I continued to receive emails urging me to register after I was registered. Maybe your emails could be based on registered names rather than registered email addresses.	May 16, 2013 11:19 AM
4	More email are ok, but that raises the burden for content. They need to be relevant of funny. So perhaps you can provide early stats like, 'last year 50% of attendees were from Portland and so far local registration lags behind at a mere 30%' or 'keynote speaker announced. This speaker...blah blah...Oregon connection...!' There has to be potential for humor with GIS Inaction (as opposed to GIS In Action, but perhaps it is best to not start that idea). The point is you can't just announce the conference 5 times, each of the 5 needs to be relevant (or funny works too). Also, hit more lists (gis_info, past attendees, lacking ideas for other lists). Call for papers. For past attendees, "do you remember you first GIS In Action?...."	May 15, 2013 12:07 PM
5	I liked the warnings before early registration expired - really prompted me to commit and get registered.	May 15, 2013 11:25 AM
6	The current number is fine unless it is possible to filter and not send them to those who are already registered.	May 15, 2013 9:58 AM
7	Would be nice to have the building & room number on the conference-at-a-glance page. Need info on parking - even when I called PSU I was told that parking on campus was reserved for students, but I don't think that was the case.	May 15, 2013 9:45 AM
8	Kept getting general "Please sign up" blasts after I'd already signed up; would be nice to somehow cull the list selectively as people sign up.	May 15, 2013 8:50 AM

Page 3, Q6. On a scale of 1 - 5, how did the registration process work for you?

1	I would like to have the ability to see what booths are available and what booth I get assigned during registration. Similar to booking a seat on an airline.	May 22, 2013 11:17 AM
2	More maps of locations of meeting rooms would of been very helpful.	May 16, 2013 3:17 PM
3	The various urls, non-matching ssl certificates, etc were better than in past years. Also, the changing urls was made better in that the colors/theme was made to match rather than radically changing. This was a big improvement. I'm still in general not that big of a fan of the registration system, although have never used the backend which perhaps is great, running registration is a lot of work so keeping the backend work minimal is key.	May 15, 2013 12:07 PM
4	Online registration is great,although there are some administrative gymnastics to use a credit card in our organization, but then travel is sort of a paperwork hassle anyway - any time you spend money in the public sector, it's paperwork intensive.	May 15, 2013 11:25 AM
5	When I got to the building, no one was around at the help desk to tell me where the conference was being held. I had to find someone in an office to disturb. They didn't want to open their door until 8 a.m., which whould have made me late. Signs in the building would have been very helpful. I had no idea I needed to read the small 8.5 x 11 pages by stairs.	May 15, 2013 9:45 AM
6	This year I had to follow-up about two or three times to get the extended early bird price, which was not updated on the website when paying. It was frustrating and hopefully will be sorted out next year.	May 15, 2013 8:56 AM
7	The website wasn't easy to navigate to find the information I was looking for. There should be seperate pages in the registration form for pre-conference workshop registration and the conference itself.	May 15, 2013 8:06 AM
8	there is no clear indication that the exhibitor registration is buried in the regular registration page. We need to make that more clear to exhibitors	May 15, 2013 7:22 AM
9	It was a little hard to find the registration desk once inside the building.	May 15, 2013 7:19 AM
10	PSU Student Volunteer. Price was free, value of time exceed expectations.	May 14, 2013 10:39 PM

Page 3, Q7. This was our first year in some time that we offered workshops. We need to know if it was worth the effort, and if so, should we provide workshops in 2014.

1	I didn't find any that suited my needs. Need something of a management, policy, and/or administrative nature.	May 28, 2013 4:20 PM
2	Deadline for attending was too soon of a cutoff date.	May 16, 2013 3:17 PM
3	Wanted to take the Python Workshop but it was cancelled - would still be interested in either that or another like it. Thanks!	May 16, 2013 9:23 AM
4	Thought the preconference workshops were a great idea. I was disappointed that the python one was cancelled (for good reason), and hope that there will be workshops offered next year as well.	May 15, 2013 2:04 PM
5	I didn't attend any workshops but think that they add to conference. Non cancelling seems important, attending the conference is often based on which workshops are available.	May 15, 2013 12:07 PM
6	Was unable to attend workshops this year.	May 15, 2013 11:27 AM
7	Don't want to pay extra for workshops. Workshop content should be part of the core content of the conference.	May 15, 2013 10:55 AM
8	The Leaflet and TileMill workshops were top notch!	May 15, 2013 9:31 AM
9	I wanted to take workshop but couldn't afford to. Would like them to be more affordable.	May 15, 2013 9:30 AM
10	Just couldn't leave work.	May 15, 2013 8:56 AM
11	The workshops were hard to discover on the website, they should be more visible.	May 15, 2013 8:28 AM
12	For the all day workshop, it was nice having a break for lunch, but many people were a bit lost as to where to eat. The instructors weren't from around here either. In the future it might be nice to include some walkable suggestions to workshop instructors.	May 15, 2013 8:27 AM
13	I like the idea of the workshops. This year the only workshop that I would have benefited from was the Python workshop but the price was far to high for me to attend. Technical workshops are very beneficial.	May 15, 2013 8:06 AM
14	We need an N/A column here...people might put "No" because they didn't attend one, but it will reflect badly in the results of the "good value" questions.	May 15, 2013 7:22 AM
15	I did not attend any of the workshops but I plan to next year if they are offered.	May 15, 2013 7:19 AM
16	Attended multiple workshops - need room monitors to assist with additional seating and technology needs; did not feel workshops were the value of fee charged; possibly provide "charging" stations for laptops/electronics.	May 15, 2013 6:39 AM
17	Think it's a good offering... Students especially seemed to appreciate.	May 14, 2013 7:47 PM
18	Would like a link to presentations that were missed while attending the other workshops.	May 14, 2013 7:11 PM

Page 3, Q7. This was our first year in some time that we offered workshops. We need to know if it was worth the effort, and if so, should we provide workshops in 2014.

19	The TileMill workshop was particularly timely and informative. The room was packed! There was a momentary issue with getting enough power cords for everyone, but the problem was resolved. I would like to see GIS in Action do more workshops that bring participants in contact with folks on the cutting edge of industry. The format lends itself particularly well to web mapping. Page 3, Q9. We are considering providing the conference program in a format that's viewable on a mobile device or tablet. Please tell us your thoughts, and add any comments to help us make this decision.

1	Depends on how it's done, but offering live content on mobile devices would diminish the live experience and likely cause less attendance. Offering delayed content of select elements might work.	May 28, 2013 4:20 PM
2	The detailed programs weren't handed out to me when I registered. I just got a photocopied piece of paper with the times and rooms. I had to ask for the detailed program booklet. Booklets should be handed out initially, but having a conference program formatted for mobile would be a great addition.	May 17, 2013 4:18 PM
3	I have a mobile device, but not sure I would use it. Better in person! Would be helpful to have the recorded video available after the conference since there were some presentations that I couldn't attend, but wanted to.	May 17, 2013 8:33 AM
4	Although I checked that I wouldn't use, I would be interested in checking it out and deciding if I wanted to use it. I like to have the paper program to make notes on.	May 16, 2013 9:23 AM
5	The pdf is already usable on mobile devices. The program is also handy for notes, paper, etc.	May 15, 2013 12:07 PM
6	would save paper and help people get to the right spot.	May 15, 2013 11:27 AM
7	I don't yet have a good mobile device, but hope to, I think it's an undeniable trend. Go for it.	May 15, 2013 11:25 AM
8	I like the paper program. It's large format, easy to read and navigate, and it provides convenient organized medium for notes.	May 15, 2013 9:31 AM
9	I am planning on getting a smart phone this week and anticipate using this feature in the future.	May 15, 2013 8:56 AM
10	Sure, save some paper.	May 15, 2013 8:50 AM
11	A simple mobile program would be very useful.	May 15, 2013 8:06 AM
12	Would definitely prefer to watch it via my desktop here at work.	May 15, 2013 8:02 AM
13	Android too, please.	May 15, 2013 7:24 AM
14	depending on loading time; font size; and amount of information shared - - may use but still prefer hard copy to take notes on. Options are appreciated.	May 15, 2013 6:39 AM
15	I used my mobile device to look at the conference program this year.	May 14, 2013 10:39 PM
16	Save the trees.	May 14, 2013 9:31 PM
17	I am still reeling from Amber's "remote control for life" concept. I used no electronics during the conference, except back at work. Sometimes I just need a rest, and not having my laptop, etc. enabled me to focus on the presentations.	May 14, 2013 7:52 PM
18	I hope that you keep some paper copies. Some of us are not cyborgs.	May 14, 2013 7:46 PM
19	Let there be apps.	May 14, 2013 7:01 PM

Page 3, Q10. What is your opinion of amount of food served? (select one)

1	Please make vegetarian/vegan option available. I know you had to ask in advance, but having food items set out would be much easier, since there was no information about getting alternate food options in the serving area.	May 17, 2013 4:18 PM
2	What a wonderful gesture to provide food for morning, lunch and afternoon. Thank YOU!	May 16, 2013 3:17 PM
3	However there could have been more in the morning	May 16, 2013 9:23 AM
4	Healthier options would be great.	May 15, 2013 2:04 PM
5	I think all three of these at different times. The YP didn't have enough food and I think other socializing times were a little light too. Sometimes were just right and I think lunch had too much. It is hard to predict.	May 15, 2013 12:07 PM
6	Liked the lunch, the snacks didn't have enough unhealthy component (cookies). Fruit and granola bars are good options, but cookies are nice also.	May 15, 2013 11:25 AM
7	Need more desserts and foods in the am.	May 15, 2013 9:30 AM
8	Too much for lunches and too little for the vendor social	May 15, 2013 8:27 AM
9	Needed a few more bagels at breakfast. Ran out of stuff.	May 15, 2013 7:24 AM
10	It was a buffet. You could take as much as you wanted.	May 15, 2013 7:19 AM
11	Was not able to enjoy assortment - carb heavy in the morning with little to no fruit; with food allergies (gluten & dairy) ended up bringing my own food.	May 15, 2013 6:39 AM
12	Better vegetarian options	May 14, 2013 7:55 PM
13	I brought my own food, except water and fruit.	May 14, 2013 7:52 PM
14	I would be willing to pay less for conference fees if food wasn't served.	May 14, 2013 7:46 PM
15	At one point, there was no coffee and no cream faints	May 14, 2013 7:01 PM

Page 3, Q11. What is your opinion of the quality of the food served? (select one)

1	Healthier options. Juice & Fruit, perhaps salad bar or buffet style	May 17, 2013 8:33 AM
2	The vegetarian option is strange. I've never seen eggplant, tofu, and hummus combined before. One would be fine, all three is strange.	May 16, 2013 11:19 AM
3	social food was good, lunch was ok. I heard many positiver comments on REAL apples. Thank you for real apples instead of red delicious which is usualy what there is which are junk.	May 15, 2013 12:07 PM
4	WOuld be nice to have lower calorie / healthier food	May 15, 2013 9:30 AM
5	Need better coffee.	May 15, 2013 9:19 AM
6	Different meals each day would be better	May 15, 2013 8:32 AM
7	Would be nice to have a different choice each day vs. the same sandwiches both days	May 15, 2013 8:12 AM
8	Choice the first morning were horrendous...a bunch of processed white carbohydrates, no protein. Lunch wasn't much better. Would like a salad option, maybe some cold cuts. So much bread/carbs again!	May 15, 2013 7:43 AM
9	Seemed down in quality this year at lunches, but the vendor social food was pretty good.	May 15, 2013 7:22 AM
10	no comment	May 15, 2013 6:39 AM
11	vegan options could be improved but i appreciate the efforts.	May 14, 2013 9:48 PM
12	Excellent sandwiches.	May 14, 2013 9:31 PM
13	For a conference... Very good.	May 14, 2013 7:47 PM
14	The meat sandwiches were great. The veggie sandwiches were kind of floppy and gross. Could stand a little less packaging for the snacks, but was glad that relatively healthy options were offered! Nice job, overall.	May 14, 2013 7:01 PM

1	there is an issue with travel out state for many local government agencies	Jul 11, 2013 12:48 PM
2	Was disappointed by the quality of some of the talks that I was (initially) most excited about.	May 17, 2013 4:18 PM
3	Difficult to get budget approval for out of state travel, overnight stay, travel, etc.	May 17, 2013 8:33 AM
4	Too much time spent driving and expense.	May 16, 2013 3:17 PM
5	I attend this conference because it is in town. I can still drop off and pick up my daughter from daycare and be home for dinner.	May 16, 2013 11:19 AM
6	I'm unlikely to travel out of state for the conference if I would need lodging as well.	May 15, 2013 2:04 PM
7	Out of State travel restrictions. Much prefer PSU over any other venues.	May 15, 2013 11:44 AM
8	Out of state travel is an issue.	May 15, 2013 11:27 AM
9	Out of state travel is difficult. Also, I commute to the conference, adding hotel and per diem to the cost may preclude attendance.	May 15, 2013 11:25 AM
10	Content of the presentations was not valuable to me. I'm looking for technical sessions.	May 15, 2013 10:55 AM
11	Budget and travel restrictions will be even tighter next year. Traveling out of state is almost always impossible.	May 15, 2013 9:58 AM
12	If it's in Vancouver, I'm going! If it's in Tacoma, might go to the NWGIS conference instead.. Tacoma/Oly means an overnight stay in a place not real enticing..	May 15, 2013 8:56 AM
13	out of state travel	May 15, 2013 8:28 AM
14	Lodging costs is the highest factor that would keep me from being able to attend.	May 15, 2013 8:06 AM
15	Commute is too far	May 15, 2013 8:02 AM
16	Transportation from PDX and back would help. But I tend to want to call it a day after the last presentataion, and do not stay for evening events.	May 15, 2013 7:24 AM
17	However, we got our butts kicked by the Hilton over there six years ago and i don't want to relive that. Someone who is willing to really negotiate hard is going to have handle the contracting	May 15, 2013 7:22 AM
18	PSU is easily accessible via mass transit. Vancouver is hard to get to without driving.	May 15, 2013 7:07 AM
19	Out of state travel is not approved; depending on political environment at the time may be able to attend but number from my agency would possibly be limited to 1 or 2. Discussed with other attendees the possibility of being a presenter but was not aware of conference until it was time to register and not at the point of call for presentations.	May 15, 2013 6:39 AM

22	While I would love to attend a conference in Vancouver, it is very hard during the academic term with teaching responsibilities to get away for numerous conferences and to find the funding. With a conference that is closer to home it is easier to attend just one day and not have the expense of a hotel, etc.	May 14, 2013 8:17 PM
23	Ugh.	May 14, 2013 7:01 PM

Page 3, Q16. Did you find all the information you needed on the Oregon & SW Washington web site?

1	A mobile app or web friendly mobile site would go a long way to improving the situation here. The app/site could update as developments are made - schedules... etc. A full website is just too burdensome on a mobile phone device.	May 20, 2013 11:53 AM
2	Need info on parking on campus. Need building and room numbers on conference-at-a-glance page. Need link to your tax id info for company to make payment - hard to run down. Companies only need it once, but when it is needed, it is a must have.	May 15, 2013 9:45 AM
3	There was a disconnect with info on the intro web pages about hotels vs the pdf document that had more info on the speakers,etc. that got posted closer to conference time. The general web pages listed only 2 hotels. One high priced (Modera - $189 a night) and then a low-end one (cant recall name). When I opened more detailed pdf just prior to coming it is then I noticed the PSU Conference Center and Hotel and able to change my reservations the night before driving there. I came from out of town. This was affordable and reasonable. Would have been nice to have that info sooner.	May 15, 2013 9:30 AM
4	As mentioned above, the extended early bird registration was not updated causing me a hassle.	May 15, 2013 8:56 AM
5	The website is hard to navigate and find information. Everything from the conference program to workshops was difficult to access. Too many clicks.	May 15, 2013 8:28 AM
6	Site navigation was difficult. It took a lot of searching to find the info I was looking for.	May 15, 2013 8:06 AM
7	The sooner the program tracks are determined the sooner I can justify attendance with my manager. This will affect the cost to me in terms of registration and work time. So please try to get the track themes and abstracts up as early as possible.	May 15, 2013 7:24 AM
8	Identifying parking and having to navigate through PSU site was a little frustrating; also when following their directions ended up getting a parking ticket because we parked in the facility indicated and it was permit only.	May 15, 2013 6:39 AM
9	If I remember correctly, it was a little confusing b/c there was a link to last year's conference for quite some time before any current information was posted for the 2013 conference. Perhaps a blank holder page for the 2014 conference would be less confusing (and then perhaps I am misremembering it all....)	May 14, 2013 8:17 PM
10	I think the program information was available by the time of the conference, but was not complete earlier, so made it harder to tell what presentations I was interested in. As it turned out, I felt the program was very well done.	May 14, 2013 7:52 PM
11	Web site is functional, but fugly	May 14, 2013 7:47 PM
12	The pdf was out of date on the website. It would have been cool to have something more interactive than a downloadable pdf.	May 14, 2013 7:01 PM

Page 3, Q17. Thinking of other conferences you have attended, is there some aspect of a previous conference that was really engaging? If there is, please let us know and the Conference Committee will explore it further. Mention the conference where you saw it.

1	CalGIS had an open mic period at the very beginning of the conference, right after initial introductions and logistics. Lots of good issues were raised, followed by opening keynote.	May 28, 2013 4:20 PM
2	I hiked in the desert and enjoyed 80+ sunny weather in April while at the ESRI Dev Summit but there is probably not a reasonable way for you to arrange that. ;-)	May 18, 2013 7:14 AM
3	At the 2012 NACIS conference, quite a few speaker presentations were made available through the web immediately after the presentation (URLs collected via a Google docs spreadsheet). That was very helpful.	May 17, 2013 10:19 AM
4	The lightening talks were excellent and perfect for the lunch hour!	May 17, 2013 8:33 AM
5	Technical sessions at the Esri International UC.	May 15, 2013 10:55 AM
6	I'd like more lightning talks so we can see more content over less time.	May 15, 2013 10:45 AM
7	Can't think of anything to add.	May 15, 2013 9:45 AM
8	I have never attended a GIS in Action conference before however I have attended other GIS conferences elsewhere in 3 states. My only feedback is that the conference lacked the same energy Ive seen at other conferences. As much as I liked the bridge lady and found the whole history of bridges fascinating, too much time was spent on her talk and it seemed to move very slow. Not a good choice as the opening speaker. I think some GIS innovations with a energetic speaker might have been a better choice to open with.	May 15, 2013 9:30 AM
9	ESRI was willing to come and provide a lab where people could use the software. That could be a good addition, but needed more space to provide it.	May 15, 2013 9:19 AM
10	WA-URISA breakfast and morning keynote on the opening day. Name printed on front and back of badges so that it is readable even when they flip over on your chest.	May 15, 2013 7:22 AM
11	AASHTO conference, Portland - - panel discussions on like topics; also had several seating areas more condusive for impropmtu conversations; PSU while a nice facility felt like I was intruding on students quiet study time and there was little to no seating in corridors. There was also designated time to interact with vendors and others rather than trying to "fit it in" in between sessions.	May 15, 2013 6:39 AM
12	Vendor Passport so attendees visit every exhibitors booth to win a raffle.	May 14, 2013 9:31 PM

Page 3, Q19. Thank you for attending the GIS In Action conference. If you have any additional comments, we would like to hear them.

1	I enjoyed the lunch "lightening" talks.	May 29, 2013 1:01 PM
2	well done	May 28, 2013 12:50 PM
3	Good job to the Conference Committee, another well done conference.	May 22, 2013 11:17 AM
4	Great job to the brochure team and especially Heather C.	May 20, 2013 11:53 AM
5	Exellect local conference. Very helpful and well done! Thanks for all the hard work in putting it together!	May 17, 2013 8:33 AM
6	The program looked nice and came out with enough advanced notice. The sooner the better (but I know presenters are a resistive bunch to timelines).	May 15, 2013 12:07 PM
7	Nice work - yet another great conference.	May 15, 2013 11:27 AM
8	I like GIS in Action, you guys do a great job - creative, interesting, fun stuff - and it doesn't cost an arm and a leg to attend, which is nice. Parking around PSU can be a lame hassle, but if the space is cheap, I totally understand the choice of venue.	May 15, 2013 11:25 AM
9	This was probably the best GIS in Action conf in years! Really appreciated the keynote speakers. Attendance appeared to be higher which translated into connecting with more people. PSU is also a great location. Thank you! Paul Newman	May 15, 2013 10:55 AM
10	The topics and presentations I attended were interesting and gives me food for thought on future things within our agency. Most presentors were well prepared and some seemed that they could have gone further but when there are time limits they could only do so much. Overall it was good to see all the possibilities to listen to what folks have been doing.	May 15, 2013 10:54 AM
11	Well done! Loved loved loved the workshops. Extra thumbs up for Justin from Mapbox/Tilemill and Grant's presentation on opensource web mapping (not a workshop, but brilliantly done). Also, Amber Case is great -- good job bringing her in. Good to have some innovation in the room.	May 15, 2013 10:45 AM
12	Would be nice to have your conferences pre-certified for the Society of American Foresters continuing education credits. Most everybody does - shouldn't be hard to do. You put on excellent conferences and they really should count towards professional re-certification.	May 15, 2013 9:45 AM
13	I attended several of the breakout sessions and thought they were great. Keep them coming and mix up the topics.	May 15, 2013 9:30 AM
14	Used to go regularly but travel is more restrictive than in the past, so first time attending in a few years. Very worthwhile, good breadth of info covering the field from data capture & devices to workflow to presentation. Thanks! If it's in WA in the future, out of state travel is a steeper hill to climb (even if it's only Vancouver, still requires higher-level approval to leave OR than a trip to Pendleton or LaGrande; silly, but...).	May 15, 2013 8:50 AM
15	I really liked the lightning talks at lunch. All of the rooms used were nice,	May 15, 2013 8:06 AM especially the main hall. The agenda was too long. I recomend scaling back the amount of text or formating it differently so it isn't pages of text. Overall it was a great conference and I will return.

16	I enjoyed many of the presentations. Thank you for all the hard work.	May 15, 2013 8:02 AM
17	Thank you all for your efforts. As always the conference offers an opportunity to hear advancements in GIS and how it is being used in a real world manner. It is also a great time to visit old colleagues and create new relationships and opportunities for potential collaboration. Keep up your fantastic work!	May 15, 2013 6:48 AM
19	I was a part of the Education track and mostly attended those sessions which were really helpful and a good means of reconnecting with other educators. I would suggest that you make this a regular part of the conference if it is not already planned. In addition, having some blocks of time for general discussion and networking during the day would be really valuable. We met over lunch in the Geography Dept and that was great but also highlighted the real need to get together more often. The GIS in Action is a great opportunity to facilitate this.	May 14, 2013 8:17 PM
20	I would love to see a speed networking session, based on the formatting of speed dating. Great chance to meet a lot of people in the GIS field, and branch out to new contacts.	May 14, 2013 8:12 PM
21	Thanks for the great conference. It was one of the best GIS-in-Action I have attended. Presentations were relevant to what I do, reflecting the problem-solving methods, etc, and had a mix of web and paper solutions. Really enjoyed it.	May 14, 2013 7:52 PM
22	A great, local conference. Think it would be good to have a bit more focus on development, and -- especially -- mobile.	May 14, 2013 7:47 PM
23	Glad to be back at PSU! Thanks for keeping the conference current and relevant to the leading edge of the geospatial industry.	May 14, 2013 7:01 PM
